FREE Screening and Spinal Examination

Poor and declining health is not only related, but is the result of spinal imbalance. Scoliosis (Curvature of the spine): is a condition that results from long standing spinal distortion that starts in the early years, and especially affects girls. It is becoming more apparent today than ever before.

Conditions that are caused by spinal curvature and distortion are:

Low Back Pain
Sciatica
Headaches: (Migraine and Cloister)
Neck and Mid-back pain

In children the result of spinal distortion is poor posture, protruding scapula (distorted wing bone) and hump back.

Our screening and examining program is designed for the young and old alike. BY detecting these abnormalities early in life, we can save an individual from major health problems later on in life.

This testing procedure uses no radiation and can determine spinal imbalance with pin point accuracy.

We're asking all families in the community; regardless if your health is good or not to call and set aside an appointment time to have their spines examined for possible spinal curvature and spinal imbalances. It is our goal to have every family's spine examined for spinal curvature in this community. Call now for your appointment.
THE STEUBEN ATHLETIC CLUB
As Symbolic of its Time in 1982 as in 1886

The Steuben Athletic Club will occupy a major portion of Steuben Place, a splendid architectural symbol of its time, when it first housed the Young Men's Christian Association in 1886, dedicating its facilities to the physical well-being of its members.

The Steuben Athletic Club will again become symbolic of its time, for it will transform the structure into a definitive meeting place, athletic and health club, for Capital District businessmen and businesswomen.

This unique facility will offer men and women a superbly appointed place to meet business associates and friends, to play, to exercise, to swim, to drink, to dine and to entertain.

As a member, you can swim in a recreational and lap pool, play racquetball/handball or squash on one of ten courts, use the running track, whirlpool, sauna or steam baths, nautilus equipment, private meeting rooms, and so much more that you would expect of a symbol of its time.

The time has come for The Steuben Athletic Club. And it's time for you to learn all about the facility. Please send the coupon below.

Corporate Affiliations to SAC are being offered to employers concerned enough to make available to their employees a professional health/fitness and lifestyle modification program. At the heart of the Steuben Athletic Club is our Sportsmedicine Center/Human Performance Laboratory there is no similar facility in the Capital District.

Now you can open an IRA at National Savings Bank—even if you already participate in your employer's pension or retirement plan. Your tax-deferred dollars earn high market interest rates. You can invest at Money Market rates with as little as $25 up to $2,000 ($2,250 if non-working spouse). This increases to $4,000 if both spouses work.

TAX SAVINGS. Defer taxes on the whole investment and all the interest until retirement. You save immediately, as $700 of the $2,000 investment is saved in taxes if you are in the 35% tax bracket.

INFLATION CONTROLLED SAVINGS PLANS. National Savings Bank offers two variable rate plans that keep pace with inflation to insure maximum retirement income.

The Plans vary in interest rate monthly, according to the average of the 6-Month Money Market or the 30-Month Certificate rates for the previous month. The average rate for both of these indices was over 14% for the last year.

COMPounding CAN ADD MORE TO YOUR SAVINGS THAN YOU DO. Interest is compounded daily and credited monthly to help build your savings. If your interest rate averages only 10% a year for the next 7 years, your compounding interest will be putting more toward your retirement than the amount you actually contribute!

WE'LL GIVE YOU CASH TO OPEN YOUR IRA NOW! Open an IRA that's designed to fit your needs at National Savings Bank. Do it now and get a cash gift of $10 with a deposit of $2,000.

Remember, it's your retirement. Plan on it.
Format switch: Spotlight to go tabloid

At first glance, next week's Spotlight will look the same as usual, but inside there will be a world of difference.

For the first time in its 26-year-plus history, the Spotlight will be printed in a basic tabloid format and on standard newsprint. The front and back covers, however, will continue to be printed on the 50-pound paper stock that has become such a familiar trademark of this newsweekly since its inception.

In our new and enlarged headquarters on Adams St., we are excited and enthusiastic about the new format, which will make its debut with next week's issue.

The most important changes will be:
- Doubling of news space.
- Wednesday morning delivery to mail subscribers and newstand readers. (The Spotlight hereafter will carry a Wednesday date instead of Thursday.)
- Expanded news and photo coverage of such communities as Selkirk, South Bethlehem, Feura Bush, Clarksville and New Salem as well as Glenmont, Voorheesville and the Tri-Village area.
- More feature articles and columns of local interest, plus expanded photo coverage of local people and events.

The news columns will be approximately one-third wider, providing easier readability. The larger page size (10 3/8 inches wide by 16 inches deep) will allow for a four-column news format and a six-column format for advertising display.

We are confident that our regular readers and loyal advertisers will welcome the changes as a major step forward. We anticipate an end to the squeeze on space available for stories and photos that has handicapped our coverage for the past several years, and an end to the backlogs of news items of schools, clubs, churches, sports teams and personal achievements that have had to wait several weeks after being set in type.

We expect to carry more “profile” articles as well as making our pictures larger and printing more of them.

Also in our plans are to revive a regular column, “Spotlight in Retrospect,” containing capsules of local news items of 25, 10 and five years ago. A popular feature discontinued several years ago by the lack of space; to introduce a regular column called “Focus on Faith” written by members of the Tri-Village clergy, and an exciting new weekly feature on consumer financial advice, “Right on the Money,” by R.B. Plunkett, consumer affairs editor of the New York Daily News writing especially for The Spotlight.

And noted local historian Allison Bennett will return to The Spotlight on a regular basis with a column on the rich history of New Scotland and Bethlehem.

The Wednesday delivery will give subscribers an extra day to take advantage of advertised specials in local stores, and will give advertisers the opportunity to communicate their messages to local customers 24 hours earlier than in the past.

We will continue to be “uniquely weekly” in serving Bethlehem and New Scotland. We will have two Page Ones . . . the smooth-paper front cover of the same size, shape and style as the present cover, and a tabloid-sized Page One inside that will greet your eye when you open your copy to unfold the new full-size page carrying the major stories of the week.

You might have to bear with us for a time while we iron out a few production kinks and solve a few technical problems, but we trust you will be as enthusiastic as we are with the new product. Our intent is to make The Spotlight more readable and more efficient than ever.

We hope the “new look” will enable us to keep up with the growth of our truly unusual community and the activities of the people who make it such a delightful place to live.

Figures, released last week, would mean a one percent cut for Bethlehem.

So far, the only change in staffing levels is a proposal to add two full-time teachers to the new Challenge program, and one part-time instructor to the proposed micro computer lab at the high school. Other than that, there will be "minor fluctuations" to reflect a projected two percent decline in enrollment next year, Zwicklbauer said. He noted, however, that it is not easy to reflect changes at the elementary school level because of the small size of the district's five elementary schools.

The Challenge program, the most controversial issue in last year's budget deliberations, currently operates with one staff member. The board was scheduled to hear a report on Challenge at its meeting Wednesday, and to then work on the operations and maintenance section of the budget.

More sewer work
The Bethlehem Town Board was scheduled Wednesday to award a second contract in the town's sewer extension project. As with the first contract, town officials say they are pleased at the number of bidders and the prices quoted.

The contract, for gravity sewers for trailer parks on Rt. 9W in Selkirk, was to be let to Anjo Construction Limited, Latham, which was low of 12 bidders with $186,273.

Pedestrians must walk in the street to detour around this mountain of snow plowed from the Getty Station at Delmar's busy Four Corners intersection. The barrier, which encroaches on sidewalks, has prevailed for several months. Although the town's sidewalk plow clears the bulk of snow from footpaths, this winter has been hard on property owners who, who must handle the ice problem to avoid being vulnerable to lawsuits should pedestrians be injured in falls on sidewalks in front of their houses or stores.

New codes put pressure on towns

Under the pressure of the state's March 1 deadline, the Town of New Scotland has adopted the New York State building and fire code as its own and put in place an enforcement mechanism.

Meanwhile, Bethlehem Building Inspector John Flanigan (who now, ironically, is also a New Scotland fire inspector) is worried about even tougher state fire safety regulations which may go into effect three years from now.

The new fire code, proposed by the Dept. of State for adoption April 1, will require uniform construction, fire detection and safety standards throughout the state. It will be applicable to new buildings until Jan. 1, 1985, at which time the state is proposing to make its provisions retroactive to all buildings where the public assembles.

"It would hit every bar in town," said Flanigan last week. And, he added, if it’s not just privately-owned buildings that would be affected.

"This building (the New town hall) has got problems, according to that code. The old town hall (the Adams House), you might just as well forget it and tear it down."

Whether that provision will actually be adopted will probably depend on the reaction of local governments after they assess the costs involved. The state proposal admits that “the cost to local governments is indeterminable at this time.”

For now, the general trend toward tightening of the building and fire codes in the state generally considered a product of the fatal fire at a Stouffer’s Inn in Westchester County last year — appears not to be an unmanageable burden.

Bethlehem already has a well-established building department. New Scotland recently appointed the fire chiefs of the four fire districts that serve the town to act as fire inspectors under the state code. They are Pat Hunsinger of New Salem, Dave Briscoe of Onesquethaw, Joseph Fahd of North Bethlehem and Flanigan, chief of the Slingerlands Fire Department, which covers a corner of the town.

Hands do the talking

A sign language workshop for school-age children interested in learning to talk with their hands will be offered at the Bethlehem Public Library on Wednesdays, March 3, 10, 17 and 24. Children ages 7-11 will meet from 4 to 4:40 p.m., while students aged 12 to 16 will learn from 4:45 to 5:30 p.m.

Registration is limited. For information, call the library at 439-9114.
It's easy being green

The Bethlehem Public Library will be celebrating leap year with a frog lore festival, featuring frog fables and facts, as well as an odd leapfrog contest, on Monday, March 1, at 4 p.m. in the children's room.

Bethlehem Art Assn. members have begun classes in the former hearing room on the second floor of the Adams House in Delmar, used as the town hall until 1980. The model for a "life class" last week was Cindy Kohler.

Purse snatchers arrested

Bethlehem police last week tracked down and arrested three Albany youths suspected of snatching a purse from a shopping cart in the parking lot of the Albany Public Market in Esmere Feb. 14.

The victim told police her cart had become stuck in the snow, and when she saw the boys coming her way she thought they were going to help. Instead, they grabbed her purse from the front of the cart and ran.

Detectives arrested a 14-year-old and a 16-year-old Tuesday, and a 13-year-old was brought in by his mother Friday.

New recycling hours

With the retirement of Bill Lang, the Bethlehem Recycling Center on Adams St. will operate on a reduced schedule effective March 1.

New hours are Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a.m. to noon, Thursday and Friday from noon to 4 p.m. and Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. The center will be closed Sundays and Mondays.

Lang, 70, had run the center since it opened eight years ago, and his highly personal touch will undoubtedly be missed by the many town residents who both recycle and come for old magazines and other treasures. But the center is no longer a profitable operation for the town — a recent consultant’s report estimated the yearly cost of operation at about $20,000 — and the reduced hours reflect that.

Fire fund raiser

Personnel from both the Elsmere Fire District and the Delmar Rescue Squad will be on hand Sunday to help take Handy-Dandy Cleaners on Delaware Ave. to the cleaners.

That is because proprietor John Bezjian and his staff will be open Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on a one-time-only basis, with all proceeds going to the two companies. Cleaning will be accepted on a prepaid basis only, with no pickups that day.

In Glenmont, The Spotlight is sold at the 5-A Superette, Heath’s Dairy and Van Allen Farms.

NEW SCOTLAND

Animal abuse jury trial set

New Scotland Town Justice Kenneth J. Connelly has refused to suppress the search warrants which led to the seizure of 86 farm animals owned by Donald Terhune of New Scotland. That clears the way for a jury trial for Terhune Monday at 6:30 p.m. at town hall.

Meanwhile, Supreme Court Justice Lawrence Kahn has reserved decision on whether Albany County should be allowed to sell off the animals to pay for the feed bill run up since the seizure last November. That bill is now well over $20,000, and county officials say they are concerned that it may soon exceed the value of the livestock. But Kahn ruled last week that the issue of mistreatment should be decided first and indicated he will hold his decision until after the trial.

Terhune is charged with mistreating the animals — 73 cattle, five horses and eight pigs — by not feeding them, leaving them in dirty and unprotected quarters and failing to care for injuries and disease. He has denied those charges, although he admitted last week that his personal circumstances caused him to leave the farm he leases on Font Grove Rd., Slingerlands, in poor condition for several months prior to the seizure.

Albany County sheriff's deputies obtained the search warrant from Connelly after complaints from unidentified neighbors of Terhune's. During the inspection of the farm, and also of Terhune's residence, the deputies were accompanied by a local representative of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. One of the questions before Kahn is whether the SPCA should pay the feed bill for the livestock.

In 1981, 45 courses were given and 850 people were trained.

Cable firm wants $1 rate increase

Citing its “continued inability to show a reasonable profit,” Bethlehem Video has filed its long-awaited rate increase proposal. But the cable company says it is stressing cost-cutting measures in an effort to keep the increase down.

Under the proposal submitted last week to Bethlehem Supervisor Tom Corrigan, the basic charge for cable service would increase $1, to $10 per month. Charges for a number of one-time services would also be increased. Bethlehem Video is also asking town permission to close its office at 159 Delaware Ave. and to turn over operation of its public access programming to the Bethlehem Public Library.

George Smede, Bethlehem Video’s general manager, said in the request that in 1981 the company showed a five percent profit, before deducting interest on its debt. “Everything we use to operate our business has gone up: gas, vehicles, power, telephone, materials, postage, wages, programs and assessments on taxes.” The company’s annual financial report has not been filed with the town.

Smede noted that Adams Russell, the cable company’s owner, is currently asking for rate increases in 10 of its 14 franchises, and that other area cable companies are also asking for rate increases. The company recently instituted six new free services and two new pay channels.

In addition to the rate hike, the increase in fees would be: a doubling of the present $7.50 charge for installing extra outlets or relocating existing outlets, doubling the $5 reconnect charge, increasing the deposit on converters from $15 to $25 for all new subscribers and increasing the installation fee for underground service from $50 to $60. The monthly charge for extra outlets would go from $2.54 to $3.50, and the current $9 cap for pay channels would be deleted and a new $15 installation fee for pay channels would be instituted.

Closing the office would save the company about $15,000 per year, Smede said. The office averages only 45 customers per month, he said, and the company has contracted with Key Bank to receive payments from customers who want to pay in person, he said.

The proposal to move the public access programming to the library is not spelled out in Smede’s letter, although he does pledge that Bethlehem Video will remain “deeply committed to public access.” In informal meetings with town officials, Smede has proposed supplying the library with all the equipment it would need to run the access studio, and also providing maintenance for the equipment.

Smede said he thinks “the studio will have more use if it is in a more public location.”

If the town board approves the new rate structure in March it would then be reviewed by the state cable commission and could be reflected in the May billing, Smede said: Bethlehem Video also serves Voorheesville and parts of the Town of New Scotland, and Smede has said the company will ask for the same increases there.

Station to expand hours

The Bethlehem Board of Appeals last week granted a special exception to Amerada Hess Co. that will allow the firm to operate the former Gas Land service station at 1358 New Scotland Rd., Slingerlands, 24 hours a day.

The board also instructed its attorney to draw up a resolution granting a special exception to WOKO radio. The station wishes to house its facilities on Kenwood Ave. in two trailers while the building at the site is renovated. The work is expected to take about two years.

The board’s next meeting is March 3.

SWIMMING

Eagles still afloat — by a touch

Against a Central New York powerhouse like New Hartford, every event was critical for Bethlehem Central’s varsity swimmers, under intense pressure to preserve a 79-meet winning streak dating back to 1977.

None was more critical than the butterfly, where Coach Jack Whipple entered his most experienced swimmer in Jay Henehan, a versatile senior, and Scott Apicelli, a sophomore with a bright future. Whipple figured Freidel of New Hartford would win it, hoped Henehan would place second and prayed Apicelli would get third.

Both Eagles came through with their fastest times of the season. Henehan got the vital second place points in 58.7 seconds, and young Apicelli churned home in 58.8, one tenth of a second behind the BC star. It was the youngster’s first time under the one-minute mark.

“Scott was really strong,” enthused Whipple. “He swam his fastest in a critical event.” That third place and six others the Eagles captured Friday night made the difference in the 43-40 Bethlehem victory. It was the closest call the Eagles had ever had at home in Whipple’s 12-year regime.

New Hartford, the last team to defeat BC, won seven of the 11 events, but Bethlehem went 1-2 in two of them and placed the second swimmer in nine events. (Three places count in a four-lane pool.)

“That extra swimmer was the key,” said Whipple, proud and relieved after the narrow escape. “Everybody swam their fastest times, and we didn’t make any mistakes. It was a great job.”

BC went 2-3 in both relays, won three of the freestyle events and lost the fourth when John Reagan was edged

John Demarest of Bethlehem Central, second lane from camera, won the 50-yard freestyle against New Hartford in 22.9 seconds, the first swimmer in Section 2 this year to be clocked under 23 seconds.

On the cover: Scott Apicelli’s third place in the butterfly gained critical points for BC in a 43-40 win, the slimmest margin of victory in the home poll in more than 12 years. R.H. Davis in the 100 by Ron Quimette, one of the fastest scholastic swimmers in the state. Reagan's time was 51.4 seconds.

BC sophomore Doug Schulz pushed Quimette to a new school (New Hartford) record in the 200 individual medley. Quimette did it in 2:05.4, Schulz in 2:06.7.

Henehan (1:53.4) and freshman Knute Hvalsmarken (1:57.5) finished 1-2 in the 200 free and Matt Holland (5:26.8) and John Henehan (5:33.9) ditto in the 500. Sophomore John Demarest won the 50 free in 22.9, the first time a Bethlehem swimmer has been clocked under 23 seconds since Kenny Neff four years ago. Schulz accounted for the other Eagle first with a 1:03.8 in the breaststroke, his best of the year.

Melissa Martley, a freshman and the only girl on the team, delighted Whipple with a second place in the diving. "It was her best performance."

The victory was the 80th straight for Bethlehem, and with only a Tuesday date this week at Voorheesville, virtually assures Whipple of breaking Don Camp's school and Section record for scholastic win streaks. Camp, now retired, coached Bethlehem's varsity tennis team to 90 straight in the late Sixties and early Seventies. Barring a schedule shift or a major earthquake, the Eagles should breeze through another 14 or 15 next season before their annual tangles with Rome and New Hartford.

This weekend Whipple takes five of his charges to Lawrenceville, N.J., for the Easterns. Jay Henehan, Holland, Schulz and Demarest will swim the 400 freestyle relay. Henehan will enter the IM and 500, Schulz the IM and breaststroke, and Demarest the 50. John Reagan will do the 'fly in the medley relay with Holland, Schulz and Demarest, Schulz handling the backstroke leg in this one.
Blackbirds send 4 to mat showdown

Four Voorheesville wrestlers, including unbeaten Sectional champion Jeff Clark, will show their talents at the Glens Falls Civic Center this weekend in the Section 2 championships for the state wrestling championships.

Clark, a sophomore standout, boosted his season record to 24-0 in capturing the 112-pound title in the Class C Sectionals at Granville Saturday. His brother Jerry, top-seeded at 145, was the victim of a 7-5 upset by Todd Stone of Whitehall in the finals, and lost for only the third time in 27 matches this year.

The Clark brothers will be joined at Glens Falls by Jeff Genovese, a ninth grader who finished third in 98-pound grappling, and Matt Beals, a sophomore who got a fourth at 126 pounds. The top four in each weight division will wrestle it out next weekend with winners from large and small schools for the chance to go to the state meet.

Coach Dick Leach was happy with the Blackbirds gaining fourth place among the 14 teams in the Granville Division. Keenan Rutala, each of whom finished fifth in their divisions, and Sean Rafferty, won the Class C crown with 194 points, followed by Corinth with 171½ and Hoosick Falls with 160⅓.

Other Blackbirds who placed in the Sectional meet were Mark Gillenwaters, Chris Zeh and Tom Hannman, each of whom finished fifth in their divisions, and Sean Rafferty, who got a sixth place. “We had a strong finish, and we feel pretty good about it,” said Leach.

Joanne Kimmy of Delmar has joined the Hudson-Mohawk Industrial Gateway as coordinator of the Gateway’s educational and tourism programs. She previously served as tour director of the Albany Institute of History and Art, and helped establish “Galleries Inc,” a tour program designed to promote interest in the arts and in sites of historical significance.

WRESTLING

BC crowns 2 mat champions

Bethlehem Central emerged from an intense weekend of scholastic wrestling with a strong team showing, two individual champions, an injured gladiator and plaudits as host of the Class A Sectional tournament.

The Eagles finished fifth among 13 teams, and will send five representatives to the Section 2 finals at Glens Falls this weekend. Saratoga won the meet with 192 points, followed by Shenendehowa (186), Burnt Hills (174 1/2), Mont Pleasant (142) and Bethlehem (132 1/2).

Among the weight-class champions were BC’s Alan Marwill, who won the 167-pound title, and Paul Dorsey, 177-pound winner. Both are seniors.

Marwill takes a 29-2 record to Glens Falls, while Dorsey, seeded second, pulled the upset of the tourney by gaining a 6-3 decision over previously unbeaten Matt Ryan of Albany High. Ryan was seeded No. 1 and was 24-0 before tangling with the BC star. Dorsey is now 29-4.

Nico Costaldo grappled his way to the finals of the 145-pound class, but was forced to withdraw with an injured knee cartilage. He underwent surgery Sunday, and will miss the Glens Falls meet and a chance to compete in the state championships next month.

Paul Callanan, a BC sophomore, got second place in the 112-pound final, and Eric Bryant, a senior, was fourth at 91 pounds. Doug Eberle, who with Ford Clark finished fifth in their respective weight classes, will have a spot at Glens Falls because the number of super-heavyweights is under quota. Eberle wrestled at 250, Clark at 215.

A snowstorm held down the attendance Friday, but Saturday’s rounds, including semifinals and the wrestle-back (consolation) tournament, drew large crowds to the BCHS gym.

Tax talk on tape

Federal income tax instructions on cassette tapes prepared by the Internal Revenue Service are now available at the Bethlehem Public Library.

The tapes and a cassette tape player can be checked out like books and used at home. They contain step-by-step guidelines for the preparation of Federal Tax Forms 1040 and 1040A, as well as instructions for completing Schedules A and B, the two most commonly used with the 1040.

Blackbirds draw a real toughie

For Coach Chuck Abba, a former Union College sharpshooter, his first year as varsity basketball coach is a learning experience, but for hometown fans it's a happy one at 14-7.

Abba is making notes on what makes scholastic teams click or go sour, especially after last week's experience. His team played its best game of the season Tuesday and lost, and its worst game of the season Friday and won.

On Tuesday, Voorheesville went against a fired-up Watervliet team shooting for its first outright Colonial Council flag in four years in one of the toughest gyms in the loop. The Blackbirds stayed with the new champions all the way, made several strong comebacks and actually had a 44-42 lead with five minutes left before surrendering by 58-56.

"We played extra well," said Abba. "We fell behind by 7-0 and later by 38-33, but never lost composure. I was never more proud of this team."

The Blackbirds pulled even at 21, and the two rivals traded baskets the whole third period. It was 40-39 Water-

Eagles' season has its rewards

Being the underdog is old hat to Bethlehem Central's varsity basketball team, but coach Jim Tedisco headed for Albany on Tuesday with memories of past upsets in Sectional play.

The Eagles faced CBA on the Cadets' court with high hopes and a high front line in the Class A tournament opener. Tedisco was remembering how teams like 1-17 Troy and a one-game disciplinary suspension.

Sun-Thurs. game.

Sectionals out for BC girls

The Bethlehem Central girls' varsity basketball team dropped three Suburban Council duels and lost in the finals of the Ravena Invitational tournament, effectively crushing their hopes for a Sectional berth in 1982.

The pillage began Monday when Burnt Hills (8-5) downed the Eagles, 46-33. Neck-and-neck at 31-30 going into the last quarter, the hosts routed Bethlehem 15-3 in the last eight minutes. Kathy McNamara scored 13 points for BC with Beth McGaughan bucketing 11.

On Tuesday, Niskayuna defeated the Eagles for the second time, 40-30. On Wednesday, Bethlehem lost on the road to Columbia, 36-30 BC's council record is now 6-9.

Thursday saw the one bright spot in the Eagles' long week of play. Bethlehem, paced by Sandy Shelmerdine's 23 points and Kathy McNamara's 17, manhandled Mont Pleasant, 53-32, to advance to the finals of the Ravena Invitational. Ravena won its own title Saturday night by beating a disappoint­ed Eagles team, 38-31. Shelmerdine scored 10 points and won the MVP award.

Bethlehem achieved a modest goal when it dusted off Guilderland, 58-55, in the scheduled finale Friday. The win, however unartistic, gave the Eagles a mark of 11-9, their first winning season since 1978-79.

Pete Gillespie, who sat out a one-game disciplinary suspension Tuesday and watched the Saratoga disaster in muti from the bleachers, pumped with 25 and Tom Dexter with 20 did the bulk of BC's scoring in their final home game.

Ads cause worry

Editor, The Spotlight:

I find it hard to believe my eyes when I read the Chiropractic Report advertisement in your newspaper. Is this still 1982 and the United States, the country that put man on the moon?

I may find it laughable as a doctor to read the assertion that hypertension can be managed by manipulation of the spine; but, at the same time I worry that a properly managed hypertensive might give up his drug therapy and
Drugs and blood pressure
Editor, The Spotlight:

May I suggest to the readers of The Spotlight that the advertising by Dr. James J. Barile in last week's issue contained many misleading statements.

I am not anti-chiropractic medicine, having many years ago sought the aid of a chiropractic doctor to alleviate back pain. However, his statement re: "Blood Pressure. High or Low" in which he says, "Drugs have not been and never will be the proper method of maintaining or normalizing blood pressure. There are dangerous side effects to this procedure and it is not necessary," is sheer distortion of the truth and a very dangerous allegation to make.

I would hope that the many people suffering from hypertension and under a physician's care will not be taken in by such irresponsible advertising.

I wonder if chiropractors with asthmatic children prefer spinal adjustment to adrenalin when that child is struggling for his next breath.

I will assume that Dr. Barile sincerely believes what he advertises, even though I consider his remedies appalling when applied to serious diseases. Because, to assume that this is a public relations broadside to drum up business for a practice that cannot prove the value of its ideas would be a strong moral indictment.

Mr. Editor, I suggest the Delmar community deserves some references from Dr. Barile, where we can turn to read clear scientifically sound reports that verily claims for cure made by the Chiropractic community. Perhaps that might be the subject of Dr. Barile's next dissertation.
