Honda plans giant warehouse at Selkirk yards

The announcement Tuesday that a 350,000-square-foot warehouse will be constructed for Honda at Selkirk is only the first phase in what could be a major industrial development in the area.

American Honda Motor Co., Inc., of Gardena, Calif., will use the warehouse as a distribution depot for Honda motorcycles and power products, according to Wil­lard T. Anderson, the Albany developer who put the deal together.

The building will be the largest warehouse facility in the Capital District," Anderson said in a press release. "It will consist of eight acres under one roof.

The area south of the Conrail yards is mostly vacant land, and local officials have been eyeing its potential for industrial development for several years. That inter­est accelerated last January when Conrail dedicated its new Nor­theast regional headquarters building near the Jericho Bridge.

The $1.4-million Conrail build­ing was also developed by Ando­rner, and it earned the necessary "green light." Conrail is in Selkirk to stay, making the area a major hub of transpor­tation in the Northeast.

"Bill looked at the area and saw that with rail and highway facil­ities, he felt the area was very advantageous for other types of development," said Jeff Ward, Anderson's vice president for engineering and construction.

Anderson now has control of the 50-acre parcel formerly owned by the Penn Central Railroad Co., Ward said. The land is located near the Feura Bush Rd. on the west and Bell Crossing Rd. on the southeast, and by the rail yards on the north and the old West Shore Railroad line (no longer in use) on the south.

"He's very active in devel­oping and promoting that land for the last two years," Ward said. Honda, he added, "isified the whole thing. It will be, if you will, an industrial park."

Ward said Anderson plans to build a road from Feura Bush Rd. to the Honda plant this spring and, said, if other plans jell, the road may be extended as far as Bell Crossing Rd. to provide access to the entire site. Water will be run from an existing main that extends from Feura Bush to the Airplane just west of the Honda site, he said.

Since the Honda plant is not expected to be a major employer, service is not essential at this time, Ward said, but will be a "key factor" in further development of the site. There is a nonexistent sewer line near the site. Anderson is working on that problem with local and state officials, Ward said.

Bethlehem Supervisor Robert Hendrick welcomed the Honda warehouse to the town. "It is the type of industry we have been seeking and hopefully will act as a catalyst for future development," he said.

Hendrick and Public Works Commissioner Bruce Secor have been working with Anderson and Honda officials to help develop the site, which is unzoned. Hend­rick noted that the town has sub­stantially increased its efforts to attract new industry in the last year.

The town's Industrial Devel­opment Authority, which financed its first two projects last year, will consider its first 1986 application for financial help next week, Hend­rick said. A developer wants to use IDA financing to borrow $680,000 to build a warehouse on Long Lane, on the north side of the Conrail yards, he said. Hend­rick declined to name the devel­oper until the IDA meets, but said it is not connected to the Honda plans.

A more significant is the fact that the town two years ago acquired a 22-acre parcel of land that was once right-of-way for the old West Shore Railroad. The town's portion of that land extends southeast from Bell Crossing Rd. to South Bethlehem, and could be used as an access road to open up other undeve­loped land near the rail yards.

Ambulance squads support state training requirements

By Therse Robson

Area volunteer ambulance squads have reacted positively to proposed state regulation of their staff, equipment and medical services.

In addition to mandating that one licensed emergency medical technician (EMT) be present on every ambulance call, the pro­posed revision of state public health law would establish a state medical advisory committee to advise on minimum medical con­trol standards. The proposed legis­lation also would establish regional emergency medical cor­porations, which would be eligible for state grant monies.

Previously, Article 30 of New York State Public Health Law exempted volunteer ambulance squads from state control.

"Everybody in the state deserve to have a minimally trained per­son in the back of the ambulance," said John Strain, deputy director of the state's Emergency Medical Service program. Strain said the bill provides basic standards for staffing and equipment. "Cur­rently, you take what you get when the ambulance gets there," Strain said.

Some 970 out of 1,190 ambu­lance services in the state are volunteer, according to Strain. Strain said about 212 of the volunt­eer ambulance services have been chosen to be certified, and he estimates about one-half could be certified without major changes.

Strain said a number of ambu­lance attendants have only advanced first aid training, which may not include instruction in, for example, the use of oxygen or state-of-the-art spinal immobi­lization equipment.

When a regulation would cause a hardship or prevent a commu­nity from being provided with ser­vice, squads would be able to obtain an 18-month waiver.

"I think it's a good proposal," said Evelyn Cole, captain of the Onequehaw Volunteer Rescue Squad. "If people call the ambu­lance, they have to expect the people who are qualified to give them care.

"At the present time we do not run without an EMT on the call," said Cole. "We are state certified at this time." According to Cole, Onequehaw has 15 to 20 volun­teers, including about six EMT's. She said the squad could use more volunteers.

While the Bethlehem Volunteer Ambulance Squad is not certified, Charles Wheeler, president, said the proposed changes would have no major effect. "Basically, we already are running with one EMT on every call," said Wheeler.

"The important thing, I feel, is that we don't get overregulated."
Honda warehouse

The availability of easy access to rail and trucking routes was a factor in the company's decision to explore the Bethlehem site, said the official. The distribution center for motorcycles and power equipment will be operated by the company's existing, outboard motors and snowblowers will be managed by the company now operating in the New Jersey facility, he said.

Ward said Anderson had been asked by Honda not to disclose the cost of the facility or the number of people to be employed. However, he confirmed that as a warehouse facility would not be expected to be, a major employer.

Corrigan on planning board

The Corrigan name is back in Bethlehem town government. Dennis J. Corrigan of Glenmont was appointed to the Bethlehem Planning Board during the town's organizational meeting last week.

Corrigan, the son of former town supervisor Thomas V. Corrigan, is employed as a senior design engineer for the design and construction group of the state Office of General Services.

"I'm happy to be of service to the community, and I hope to do a good job," said Corrigan.

A licensed professional engineer, Corrigan is co-owner of Framingham Associates Inc., Glenmont, a business that offers engineering inspections for buyers of residential and light commercial structures.

He has been a Bethlehem Republican Committeeman for the past six years.

Born in Albany, Corrigan is a lifelong resident of Bethlehem and a graduate of Bethlehem Central High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in forestry engineering from the State University College at Syracuse and a master's degree in environmental engineering from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Corrigan is a former member of the Bethlehem Council for Conservation of the Environment.

Corrigan and his wife, Marilyn, have three sons, Brian, Kevin and Michael.

Honda will not own the new warehouse facility. It will be constructed by D. Berenson Co. of California on 69 acres of land and leased by Anderson. Ward said the Albany engineering firm of Smith and Mahoney is working on the site plan.

Anderson said his firm also worked closely with officials from the state Department of Commerce and Cornell in putting together the deal.

A Honda official in Garden City, said Thursday that the facility will be a replacement for a Honda distribution facility in New Jersey and will serve New England and New York. It should be in operation by the middle of this year.

he said. "As long as they don't overregulate and they do it from a practical point of view, it is a positive step."

"I think they're very interested in doing it in a practical way."

One positive aspect of the proposal, according to Wheeler, is that it would provide immunity from liability for volunteers who follow standard practices and are not grossly negligent. "That may help bring volunteers in," he said, noting that the squad needs volunteers badly -- particularly during the daytime.

The Bethlehem squad, which runs out of South Bethlehem, Glenmont and Selkirk on a rotating basis, has 55 to 60 volunteers, according to Wheeler.

"We won't notice that much of a change because we've already certified," said Barbara Joyce, captain of the Voorheesville Volunteers. They're going to put them out of business," said Boyea.

"What if you don't have an EMT? Do you respond without an EMT or do you just not respond? The primary responsibility is to get to the patient and get him to the hospital," said Boyea.

"The question is why do volunteers exist," Straif said. "They exist to serve the public. The public deserves trained people to meet their needs."

Area DA to run against Assemblyman Larry Lane

Eugene Keeler, Columbia County district attorney, has announced he is seeking the 102nd Assembly District seat now held by Clarence D. (Larry) Lane.

A resident of Kinderhook, Keeler, a Democrat, was elected to the district attorney's post in 1983, after serving as an assistant public defender for the county. He is a partner in the firm of Siegeluch and Keeler, with offices in Hudson and Copake, and also is president of Keeler Insurance Agency Inc. in Hudson.

A 1972 graduate of St. Lawrence University, Keeler received a master's degree in social work at the University of Tennessee and a law degree from Memphis State University, in Tennessee. He is a director of legal and advocacy services for the Columbia County chapter of the New York State Association for Retarded Children.

Keeler, 35, is married to Donna Morgan, formerly of Delmar. The couple has two children.

Stolen car found

A 1985 model car stolen Dec. 24 while it was parked off Delaware Ave. at Bedell Ave. was recovered last week in Albany, according to Bethlehem police reports. Four persons were seen running from the vehicle after it was involved in a minor accident in the city.

Albany police said the vehicle, owned by National Car Rental, was valued at $1,500; the report noted there was no estimate of the amount of damage done to the car.
Theater study aided

Teams of students and teachers from area school districts, including Bethlehem Central, will benefit from a $15,000 grant awarded by the state Council on the Arts to the Capital Region Center Institute for Arts in Education.

The teachers will attend a workshop with Gerald Chapman, a British director. Teachers and students will attend performances of Brigadoon at Proctor’s Repertory Company’s Market Theatre.

Student activities will include acting exercises, improvisations and creating dramatic scenes.
Many town employees get salary increases

There was an air of festivity as the Town of Bethlehem government launched the new year with the swearing in Thursday of six officials elected or re-elected last November. The board was also appointed to the reclassification study. According to the town hall meeting room as Republican party faithful and family members crowded in to witness the official ceremony. There was some quitter celebrating being done in, as the town board handed out substantial raises and bonuses for long-term employees. They changes in salary were appointed in number of resolutions getting salaries for the new year, but were announced as changes at the meeting.

At the start of the meeting, Supreme Court Judge Edward Currie administered the oath of office to Supervisor A. Robert Hendrick, who easily won his first term for the job after being appointed to the post last February as Tom Corrigan retired. Commissioner of Community Affairs Paul Amson, who has more than two years in his city, went out to wage two more grades, but with the longevity increase his salary jumped $3,250 to $30,514. Commissioner George Kirsch, who has his total salary in the range he is also at $39,727. Commissioner of Public Works Doris Orrin arrives this year is $37,382. has been named to his first term of the late Edward Mulligan, ending December 31, 1987.

Reappointed Charles B. Fritts chairman of the town board of Appeals at a salary of $2,905 and announced board member Dr. J. Barr to a new five-year term.

Reappraiser of Taxes Kenneth Hahn got a one pay grade increase, and his salary went up to $31,112 to $37,165. Parks and Recreation Administrator Philip Maher was boosted three pay grades, with his total salary increasing to $20,621. Town Court Clerk Barbara Eve with four pay grades, to $3,999 to a salary of $30,914.

The bridge links Selkirk and South Bethlehem over the Conrail freight yards near Beckers Corners. The state has two plans for replacing the aging Mosher Bridge on Rt. 396 during the bridge, noting that the structure provides the access necessary for development to the south of the yards.

Several Bethlehem town officials have expressed opposition to the proposal for the elimination of the bridge, noting that the structure provides the access necessary for development to the south of the yards.

"Right now we're just looking at the comments we've received," Johnson said.

A public hearing to consider the proposals will be held at A.W. Becker Elementary School, Rt. 9W, on Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m.

Johnson said comments will be accepted for 10 days after the hearing. Following review of all the comments, a recommendation will be formulated about two months after the hearing, according to Johnson. The project designer said it is hoped construction will start in 1988.

Town Board makes appointments

Annick Belleville of New Saum was appointed to the New Scotland Planning Board last Wednesday at the town’s annual organizational meeting.

Belleville, a registered Independent, will fill the seat previously occupied by Board Chairman John Tommell. Her term will expire on Aug. 31, 1988.

Belleville said she plans to be impartial as possible. “I consider myself independent,” she said.

The newly appointed planning board member will attend town board and planning board meetings for more than three years as an interested party.

“I am just very interested, and I am concerned because it’s my town as well as everybody else’s,” said Belleville. “I consider it my home.”

“I think you have to be sure you’re working within the framework of the zoning law which is your town,” she said. “I’m sure there’s a lot to learn, and I hope to be a fast learner.”

Born in the Province of Normandy, France, Belleville has lived in New Saum for 23 years. She said she was first attracted to the town by New Scotland and by its pastoral setting.

A graduate of Sherwood Central High School, Sherwood, N.Y., Belleville holds a master’s degree in advanced classroom teaching, with certification in Spanish and French, from the State University at Albany. She is a teacher at Farnsworth Middle School in Greenbush.

Appointments made during New Scotland’s organizational meeting last Wednesday included: Frederick A. Feist, town attorney, $7,500; E. Walter Miller, building inspector, $12,583; Richard Stickle, supervisor and planning board chairman, $6,472; Frederick Edmunds, zoning attorney, $5,383; James Sanderson, zoning board of appeal chairman, $5,504; William A. Barone, dog control officer, $4,908; Paul Cassim, town constable, $3,000; John Adams Jr., town park coordinator, $4,536; and Couture Casinos, receiver, $432.

Supervisor Stephen Wallace appointed Wyman Osterhout to the position of deputy supervisor and Robert Parmeny to the office of town historian.

Regarding other matters, the board resolved to:

- Compensate town officials and employees for the use of their automobiles in the performance of their official duties at a rate of 21 cents per mile.
- Eustis B. Smith, on the first Wednesday of the month as the regular meeting time for the town board.
- Designate the Key Bank as the depository for town funds.
- Set petty cash funds at $200 for the town clerk and $50 for the building inspector.
- Authorize the superintendent of highways to purchase tools and equipment for 1986 in an amount not to exceed $1,000.
- Approve John Gilhooly and Paul Bussow as voting machine custodians.

Born in the Province of Normandy, France, Belleville has lived in New Saum for 23 years. She said she was first attracted to the town by New Scotland and by its pastoral setting.

A graduate of Sherwood Central High School, Sherwood, N.Y., Belleville holds a master’s degree in advanced classroom teaching, with certification in Spanish and French, from the State University at Albany. She is a teacher at Farnsworth Middle School in Greenbush.

Appointments made during New Scotland’s organizational meeting last Wednesday included: Frederick A. Feist, town attorney, $7,500; E. Walter Miller, building inspector, $12,583; Richard Stickle, supervisor and planning board chairman, $6,472; Frederick Edmunds, zoning attorney, $5,383; James Sanderson, zoning board of appeal chairman, $5,504; William A. Barone, dog control officer, $4,908; Paul Cassim, town constable, $3,000; John Adams Jr., town park coordinator, $4,536; and Couture Casinos, receiver, $432.

Supervisor Stephen Wallace appointed Wyman Osterhout to the position of deputy supervisor and Robert Parmeny to the office of town historian.

Regarding other matters, the board resolved to:

- Compensate town officials and employees for the use of their automobiles in the performance of their official duties at a rate of 21 cents per mile.
- Eustis B. Smith, on the first Wednesday of the month as the regular meeting time for the town board.
- Designate the Key Bank as the depository for town funds.
- Set petty cash funds at $200 for the town clerk and $50 for the building inspector.
- Authorize the superintendent of highways to purchase tools and equipment for 1986 in an amount not to exceed $1,000.
- Approve John Gilhooly and Paul Bussow as voting machine custodians.

New loan office

Empire of America Federal Savings Bank is opening a consumer loan production office in the Northwest Mall, 1440 Central Avenue, Albany, on Monday, January 13, to serve customers in the tri-city Albany-Schenectady-Troy area, it was announced today.

The new loan production office will be exclusively for the convenience of customers seeking automobile, property improvement, boat and recreational vehicle and personal loans. Empire of America also has a full-service banking office in the Albany area — at 654 Madison Avenue in Albany and at 214 Delaware Avenue in Schenectady.

Chamber dinner

The Albany-Colonie Regional Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual dinner at the Marriott Hotel on Thursday, Jan. 16. For reservations call 434-1214.

Yoga classes listed

A variety of classes in Keplai Yoga Center have been developed for beginners by Yogi Desai, will be offered this spring at the Krupa Yoga Center, 1769 Central Ave., Albany, 2205.

Courses will be offered at beginning, intermediate, and advanced levels. The classes meet twice a week. The following workshops will also be offered: shiatsu therapy, energy, meditation, nutrition, and kundalini yoga.

For information call 469-7900.
The Kids Club, a non-profit, after-school child-care program to be housed at the Voorheesville Central Elementary School, will begin enrolling fees for the 1986-87 school year on Tuesday, Jan. 21, at the grade school, beginning at 7 p.m.

Board members will be on hand at that time to present an overview of the new program for Voorheesville-Central School District children in grades one through six. Applications for the program will be taken from Jan. 22 and Jan. 23, with a small supply also available at the Voorheesville Public Library and the Voorheesville Pharmacy, after which time applications will not be taken.

Newly elected officers of the group will be president, Bunny Mesery, vice president, Nancy Basal, secretary, and Ed Smith, treasurer. Also on the board are Dr. John Basal, James Hladun, and Dorothy Morano.

All area parents and teachers who are interested in the program are urged to contact any member of the board, call Jack or Nancy Basal at 765-7538, or write Kids Club, P.O. Box 295, Voorheesville, N.Y. 12186.

Education matters

The Board of Education of the Voorheesville Central School District will hold their monthly meeting Monday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the district offices, located at Clayton A. Bouton Junior-Senior High School. The meeting will include a report on teacher evaluation and staff development.

The public is also reminded that the 1986 series of budget meetings is scheduled for Wednesday, Jan. 22, in the high school library. The 7 p.m. meeting will include the presentation of a report on potential budget increases this month. All are welcome.

Soccer signup

The New Scotland traveling soccer league will hold team registration on Friday, Jan. 17, from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. and Saturday, Jan. 18, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Voorheesville Elementary School.

According to league President James Hladun, anyone interested in playing on one of the five teams is welcome.

All registrants must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian and must bring proof of age, and will be charged a registration fee, payable at time of registration.

The league is also planning on offering under-12 and under-16 girls teams if enough interest is shown.

Date of birth requirements are as follows: under-10, 1976 or later; under-12, 1974 or later; under-14, 1972 or later; under-16, 1970 or later, and under-19, 1967 or later.

For information call Hladun at 765-4241 or Brian Rose, league vice president, at 765-2506.

Hoop clinic

Area girls and boys interested in playing basketball are welcome to come to the Voorheesville Elementary School, any Saturday, between 9 a.m. and noon, to participate in a basketball clininc sponsored by the Village of Voorheesville.

According to Rich Langford, village trustee and liaison to the youth basketball community, the clinic is open to both boys and girls in grades four through six and will run from Jan. 11 through March 1 with no session scheduled for Feb. 22 due to winter recess.

Legion auxiliary

The Voorheesville American Legion Auxiliary will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, Jan. 9, in the American Legion Hall, Voorheesville Ave. The free program is designed to help young women improve their skills.

Couples interested in enhancing their knowledge of the childbirth experience can register for a 12-week course in The Bradley Method beginning Jan. 29.

The course will focus on relaxation techniques, nutrition, the psychology of labor and how to cope, tips for coaches, emergency childbirth, consumerism essentials and breastfeeding and parenting in the early months. A Cesa­rrain prevention class will also be offered.

Classes are taught in various locations of the Capital District by certified childbirth coaches affiliated with The American Academy of Husband-Coached Childbirth. Pre-registration is necessary as class size is limited. Further information and class availability can be obtained by telephoning 477-7075 or contacting Diane Blesl, 15 Pinebrook Avenue, East Greenbush.

3 cars collide

A three-car accident Friday morning on Rt. 85 near Blessing Rd. sent one person to Albany Medical Center Hospital. The two, Charles Henry of Delmar and John C. Nielsen of Albany, received emergency treatment and were released, a hospital spokes­man said.

According to Bethel police reports, the Henry vehicle, taxi­brough, lost control and crossed the wrong patch in the road and went into the opposite lane, where it colli­ded with a vehicle driven by Nielsen. Then Nielsen's car slid into the path of another oncoming vehicle driven by an unknown person.

The injured were taken to the hospital by the Bethel Fire Department Rescue Squad.

The 7:35 a.m. accident was one of three reported in the Bethel police district. Several of the other accidents also were attribut­able to slippery road conditions. No other injuries were reported.

Childbirth classes

For information on enhancing their knowledge of the childbirth experience can register for a 12-week course in The Bradley Method beginning Jan. 29.

The course will focus on relaxation techniques, nutrition, the psychology of labor and how to cope, tips for coaches, emergency childbirth, consumerism essentials and breastfeeding and parent­ing in the early months. A Cesarian prevention class will also be offered.

Classes are taught in various locations of the Capital District by certified childbirth coaches affiliated with The American Academy of Husband-Coached Childbirth. Pre-registration is necessary as class size is limited. Further information and class availability can be obtained by telephoning 477-7075 or contacting Diane Blesl, 15 Pinebrook Avenue, East Greenbush.

Teasing the brain

1. A lifelong attraction to brainteasers and word games. Regardless of my mood or circumstances at the time, my attention can be wrenched for at least five minutes by these exercises to jog the brain. Perhaps the attraction combines the challenge, the fun and the belief that all problems have a solution, if only we give them our sincere and dedicated attention.

Here, then, are some samples of the kind of mental exercises I have enjoyed through the years, and which you can share with your family and friends. Some are borrowed from my friend Pasqual "Pat" Battaglin, who compiled many brain teasers into a book, entitled So You Think You're Smart. Some are "taked from" Mensa, the society of top intellectuals around the world. Some are derived from that very prolific Greek author, Anonymous, while the rest come from the recesses of my own mind, which I attribute to the original creators. The author should allow any of these mind boggles to pass your point of frustration.

Good luck and have fun.

1. The following formulas refer to places, lines, oceans, or quantities. Here is an example: 100 Y on a F F Y (Yard) on a Football Field

2. Name 10 parts of the body, internal or external, that are both males and females, and that have only three letters. Abbreviations, slang words or acronyms do not count.

3. Two gentlemen, each of whom owns a horse, are arguing about the height of their steeds. They decide to have a race that will prove beyond any doubt which horse is taller. How can they set up the race to be a true test of each horse's speed and, at the same time, prevent any cheating?

4. How can you make "six" out of the following numeral by adding a single line: IX

5. You want to go to the Town of Truth where all the residents speak truth all of the time. You do not want to go to the Town of Lies where all the residents speak falsehoods all of the time. You are on the path that leads to each town. You come to a fork in the road that will take you to one town or the other. A resident of one of the towns approaches you from one of the forks. What single question can you ask this person, knowing he could be either a truth-teller or a liar, and be certain to reach your destination?

6. A big Indian and a little Indian are fishing beside a stream. The little Indian is the big Indian's son. However, the big Indian is not the little Indian's father. Who is it?

7. An antiques dealer is offering an ancient Roman coin for sale. The coin is cast from pure gold, has an image of an emperor, and is dated 123 B.C. How can you tell this coin is not a genuine antique?

Blackbirds down Cadets, 46-43

There are definite signs that Voorheesville’s boys varsity basketball team is beginning to jell, and that could mean a strong push in the second time around the league.

If Coach Bob Crandall had been hoping for a happier New Year on the hardwoods, he got some favorable indications last Friday. His Blackbirds polished off Albany Academy in convincing fashion, not bad to even their Colonial Council slate at 3-3 and their overall mark at 5-5.

It wasn’t so much the score that gave Crandall the lift, it was the way the Blackbirds controlled the flow of the game. “We were getting inside consistently, and I was especially pleased with our bench players,” he declared over the weekend. “I look for a much better second round.”

This week, the Blackbirds wind up the first half of the Colonial Council scheddule this week with games at Ravena last Tuesday (Tuesday) and a home skirmish with Cohoes on Friday. Two wins would put the Blackbirds in a position to make a run for the league gallions over the next seven games.

Against the Cadets the Blackbirds started methodically, took command of the situation, hit a cold spell in the third period, and snapped out of the slump to bury their guard’s final stanza. They were up by only three points at the first-quarter buzzer, but forged a 14-13 cushion at the half. Justin Corcoran scored 10 of the Birds’ 17 points in the first eight minutes, making some nice moves inside, and Vinny Folio hit four baskets in the second period, giving the Birds 12 points between timeouts. He shot six for nine in the half, four inside and two outside.

Voorheesville came out cold in the second half, missing their first three shots while the Cadets went on a 10-4 spurt to narrow the gap to 34-28, and in the period break it was still a five-point advantage.

But the Blackbirds put a quick end to that kind of foolishness in the final period, outscoring the Cadets by 13-4 with a balanced attack. Borg meshed four from seven of the penalty stripe in the fourth quarter.

Cran dall’s new optimism stems from the team’s improved inside play and better ball handling. Corcoran has emerged as a consistent scorer in double figures the last four games, Folio is dependable, and when Kyle Larabee shokes his slump, a lot of good things should happen. Larabee, considered by many observers as the squad’s most talented all-around player, has been shown to know the last two games, but can break loose any minute.

Most encouraging of all in Cran dall’s view is the performance of many of the Blackbirds’ prospects who sometimes do not show up.

Christy Tarullo (40) of Voorheesville leads the charge up the court, her teammate, Michelle Schiff (30) drives with the ball during last Mon-

Blackbirds lack experience

By Rick Lench

The experience seems to be the main problem for the Voorheesville girls' basketball team as they suffered losses of 42-30 in Albany High and 45-38 to Holy Names.

These were the first two times this team had the chance to work together in a real game, and the lack of experience showed on the court. In the Albany High game "half Montay," the Falcons over-matched the Blackbirds in height and quickness as well as experience. The Blackbirds played tough in the first half and kept the game close. However, in the second half, Albany's strengths took over as they exploded for a big third quarter. The final score of the game was fairly even, but the Falcons held on for victory. "Our starting five played well, but they were just too big for us," VC coach Nadine Bassler noted.

On Saturday the girls traveled to Holy Names looking for their first win. Again Voorheesville played a strong first half in grub-hing a 26-22 lead. A poor third quarter was again in the case as Holy Names came out with a suffocating full court press. This forced the Ladybirds to commit many turnovers and travelling violations, while the home squad ran off quick points.

The Blackbirds pulled close again with four minutes remaining, but Holy Names again used the press and scored many more quick points to hold off the Lady Blackbirds' last gasp.

Christy Tarullo led the squad with 17 points, while Tricia Carmody had 12 and Laura Martin added 8. "We are still a little inexperienced, but if we keep working together that will come in time," Bassler said.

The team has two games this week, on Wednesday at home against Ravena and Friday at Cohoes. Ravena figures to be one of the top teams in the Colonial Council, and the Tigers should also be tough. Two wins here can get the hoopsters back on track in the Colonial Council race.

Girls holding '93 score

By Dave DeCerro

"93" seems to be the number associated with the Bethlehem Central High School gymnastics squad this season, for that has been their score in each one of their competitive events this year.

Last week, at the highly competitive Shaker Invitational, the girls had a chance to exceed 93, though it was better than "usual" in this prestigious meet. Head coach Andrew Delpo did not know what to expect going into this meet, and there are people clapping for the Indian girls now.

The Indian girls scored 114.60 last week, and this was no match for their performance in each of the other 11 meets this season.

Tomorrow (Thursday) Bethlehem travels to Scotia, where Brown says "they have won in the past," and the Indians are hoping to win the win column again this year. On Saturday, the girls host Saratoga at the process of 93, with a two-week break at the last all-around competition.

In New York City this week the local girls must obtain an overall score of 60.00 to qualify for the Sectional Meet. The team will compete in the all-around meet next week to score a total of 60.00.

To those who say the 93 score is "unrealistic," Tom Miller says "If we are the 93 girls, the 93 score is not so unrealistic."

Theodore Wenzl, former library board member, has died. She leaves a graduate of St. Agnes School of Slingerlands later served as a board member for the Slingerlands Community United Methodist Church.

"She was interested in all phases of the library and a wide variety of subjects and ideas ranging from nature and animals to poetry and music," said Madlein. "This was reflected in her many generous personal gifts to the library." Most recently, Mrs. Sisley donated a grand piano to the library.

Born in Albany, Mrs. Sisley was a graduate of St. Agnes School of Slingerlands later served as a board member for the Slingerlands Community United Methodist Church.

"She was an incredible person," said library board member Joyce Strand. "I think the library has lost a true and devoted friend who gave an awful lot."

"With the passing of Mrs. Sisley the Bethlehem Public Library has suffered a tremendous loss," said Madlein. "She was dedicated to the library, a strong supporter, a tireless worker, a good friend. We will miss her dearly."

Born in Albany, Mrs. Sisley was a graduate of St. Agnes School of Slingerlands later served as a board member for the Slingerlands Community United Methodist Church.

Benjamin Taichnner

Benjamin Taichnner, 61, of Delmar, an Army veteran of World War II, was a graduate of the Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Born in Albany, he was a graduate of Philip Schuyler High School, Albany.

He was employed as an operating engine.

He was a member of the International Union of Operating Engineers in the 106 and the Independent Benevolent Society in Albany. He was member of Temple Jt. of Israel, Albany.

He is survived by his wife, Rosalind Kornblum Taichnner; two daughters, Sandra Stern and Andrea Taichnner of Albany, and a sister, Mildred Olinder of Albany. Robert W. Briggs Jr.

Airman 1st Class Robert W. Briggs Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Briggs of N. Grandview Terrace, Voorheesville, has been assigned to Lowry Air Force Base, Colo., after completing Air Force basic training.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field. He received an associate degree in 1985 from Dean Junior College, Franklin, Mass.

Arrangements were by Marshall W. Tebbutt's Sons, Delmar.

Bank book taken

Two bank books and $125 in cash were discovered missing from a home on Eaton Dr. in Slingerlands last Tuesday, according to Bethlehem police.

Series ‘important’

Editor, The Spotlight:

Thank you for running the articles by Linda Anne Burtis on the transportation of toxic materials through the town.

It was an important series, especially for those of us living near or along the railroad lines. It was horrifying to learn what we have been living with — without any suspicion of the problem.

I was most pleased to learn that our town officials and the fire departments have already alerted to the hazard, and have brought some of the problems involved. Let us support them with appropriate equipment that might be needed.

Mrs. Burtis writes clearly and succinctly; it was an excellent series of articles.

Act of kindness

Editor, The Spotlight:

On Saturday, Dec. 21, my husband suffered a heart attack. I had placed the sticker with the local emergency number on the telephone, but naturally I’d never expected to use it.

A police car responded within three minutes and the emergency medical crew was there within six minutes. Everyone agrees that the damage he suffered was minimized partly by his otherwise good condition, but also by the quick delivery of emergency care.

The team was professional, and mindful of my emotional state as well.

I often see letters thanking the fire department or some community group and I feel, but I must admit that I am more likely to be moved to write letters of complaint. This incident made me want to publicly thank those who helped. It’s important for everyone to know that they shouldn’t wait to call that emergency number and that when they do, the response is swift and professional.

Dr. Joseph Manzi, Podiatrist

Diabetes and Foot Care

If you are a diabetic, you should be particularly alert to any problems you may have with your feet. Most foot problems can be treated successfully if you act in time. As a diabetic, diabetes itself can cause circulatory problems that affect the foot and leg. It can also cause a boil or infection in the feet. Infections can cause more easily than in the non-diabetic person, and it will probably take longer to cure an infection once it starts.

Diabetic feet should have the ability to feel pain as quickly or intensely as other people, and for that reason, injuries to the foot may not be noticed until the condition becomes serious. If you notice a slight injury to your foot, you should continue to walk on it unless it has been examined and treated.

Probably the best advice for someone who is diabetic is to have his feet examined routinely by his foot specialist. Even minor problems can become serious if untreated.

Good Reading

Some interesting or unusual books you may have read...

By Vincent Potenza

As the name implies, this a guide book for the Capital District, a follow-up to the authors’ In & Around Albany, published in 1980.

First off, I’d have more confidence in this book’s accuracy if the authors had such a thing as a map. I know where Delmar is, but naturally I’d never been there, so it was very easy, I also would feel more comfortable if the ‘book couldn’t copyright itself.’

Nevertheless, once started I read the thing cover to cover, virtually non-stop. If that isn’t the best compliment I could think of, I would say (at least as far as a non-professional goes), there are plenty of illustrations, maps and good photographs, the price point is very reasonable.

The book will fit into any purse or pocket and is a convenient, warm winter coat pocket or sweater pocket. If you throw it into your purse, you won’t give your spinal anguish. This is important.

I think books like this should be promoted to themselves being carried around.

There are sections on transportation, lodging, restaurants, nightlife, art, sports and recreation, even some tips on what to wear and do in Boston or New York City.

The organization of material is sensible, though other methods just as well would work. There is an index, there are plenty of phone numbers and addresses to get more information. Transcriptions and cross-references appear where appropriate.

The writing style is upscale chatter, and only once in a while do you get the feeling the authors are streamlining their sentences. For the most part they refrain from using superlatives, a temptation which is very easy to succumb to, and give us instead more nouns than adjectives that is, more facts than opinions.

I like the book and plan to keep my copy handy. It’s interesting, very useful, and, at only $5.95 (probably because of those ads I hate) it’s a real bargain.

In Delmar, The Spotlight is sold at Handy Andy, Delmar Card Shop, Tri-Village Drug and Stewart’s.
