2021-22 budget

Looking ahead

THE PAST FEW MONTHS have brought much uncertainty and change to our community, and as we begin to cautiously plan for a return to the vibrant library experience of recent years, we remain mindful of the need to provide these services to you without an added tax burden.

WITH OUR 2021-22 BUDGET, we recognize that a return to "normal" won't take place overnight, and that our community needs time to recover from the financial impact of pandemic closures and stay-at-home orders. That is why we are presenting a zero percent increase to our tax levy, keeping it at the same amount approved in 2020.

WE EXPECT TO SEE some savings over the next few months as we temporarily reduce the number of large-scale in-person programs in an effort to maintain community health and safety. Your librarians are still planning a bunch of great events that will allow you to gather virtually and, in nicer weather, outdoors.

ELECTRICITY EXPENSES have gone down since the recent overhaul of our energy system, and we are planning to spend less on some materials as more people shift to streaming and other electronic formats. Some of these savings will likely be offset by increased spending in COVID-related office and cleaning supplies, as well as a projected reduction in income due to lower interest rates and fewer fines collected.

IN OUR 2021-22 BUDGET, we continue to invest in the important resources you look to for entertainment, lifelong learning opportunities, resilience during difficult times, and community connection. Our in-house and online services provide access to research and investing tools, as well as career and educational support, and so much more. We are also maintaining our spending on new releases and multiple copies of high-demand items, including e-materials, so that we can get them into your hands quicker.

THERE IS NO DOUBT the pandemic has been difficult, but it has also inspired us to find creative new ways to serve you, leading to innovations like our book and media bundles, e-newsletter and curbside pickup. These services, born of necessity, have quickly become essential. As we work toward a future that combines these new services with those that have long been part of what we do, we are thankful for the generosity of those in our community who have made major gifts earmarked for their continuation.

THROUGH ALL OF THIS, we are keeping an eye on the future with our long-range planning efforts, which will identify a short list of building improvements to consider based on public input we've received. Overall, we feel this year's zero percent levy increase is a good plan for where we are now.

Friends Book Sale

Make space on your bookshelves and stock up on some new-to-you books and DVDs this spring at the Friends of Bethlehem Public Library's Pop-Up Book Sale on the library plaza the weekend of May 15. For sale will be books and other materials that have been removed from the library collection and are in excellent condition. Many are duplicate copies of popular titles, and large print titles will be available.

Pricing is cash-only by suggested donation; the Friends will not be able to make change. Visitors are required to wear a mask that covers their nose and chin, and hand sanitizer will be available. The book sale is weather-permitting, and a rain date of May 22 has been scheduled.

Stay tuned for hours and additional details.

Get growing with our seed library

Our seed library is back and ready to put down some roots with a variety of open-pollinated vegetables, herbs and some flowers. New this year is an online "shopping" portal that makes it easy for you select your seeds for pickup.

On our seed library webpage, you'll be able to browse different categories and learn more about the varieties through links to the Hudson Valley Seed Co., where our seeds are sourced from. You can choose up to 10 seed packets per household, and when you check out, you'll be asked for your name, contact information and library card number. We'll get in touch with you when your seeds are ready to be picked up. Visit www.bethlehempublic library.org to get started.

Seed libraries like ours support sustainability and food security by allowing the community free access to the means of growing their own food.
